

1. Who are Lookers and what do they do?

Lookers is one of the UK's largest motor vehicle retail groups, representing multiple manufacturers and operating hundreds of franchised dealerships, used-car trade centres and service locations. They sell new and used cars and vans and provide a wide range of aftersales services, including servicing, MOT and parts support.

2. How long has Lookers been in business?

The Lookers Group was founded in 1908 and has grown from a small business selling bicycles and Ford vehicles into a major nationwide dealership network. Their long heritage reflects over a century of experience in the automotive sector in the UK and Ireland.

3. What types of vehicles can I buy from Lookers?

Lookers offers a large selection of new and used cars and vans from around 38 manufacturers, covering everything from city cars and family SUVs to performance models and light commercial vehicles. They also operate used-car centres that focus specifically on pre-owned stock at competitive prices.

4. What aftersales services does Lookers provide?

Beyond selling vehicles, Lookers provides servicing, MOT testing, repairs, genuine manufacturer parts and accessories. Many sites also offer free vehicle health checks and service reminders, so that customers can keep their cars in good condition throughout ownership.

5. How do I book a service with Lookers?

You can book a service online through the Lookers website by choosing your vehicle brand and local dealership, then selecting a convenient date and time. The service is carried out by manufacturer-trained technicians using appropriate diagnostic equipment and genuine parts.

6. What can I expect from a full service at Lookers?

A full service typically includes checks on key systems such as the engine, brakes, suspension, steering and lights, along with fluid changes and safety inspections. For hybrid and electric vehicles, Lookers also checks charging components and high-voltage systems to help ensure safe, efficient operation.

7. Can Lookers provide me with a copy of my finance agreement?

Lookers explains that it generally does not hold full copies of customer finance agreements. If you need a copy, you should contact your lender directly using the lender's contact details. Lookers can help you identify the lender involved if you are unsure who that is.

8. How long does Lookers keep my sales documentation?

According to their finance FAQ, Lookers normally retains sale documentation for around seven years from the date of purchase. This retention period helps them meet legal and regulatory obligations while managing customer information responsibly.

9. Is Lookers authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority?

Yes. Lookers Motor Group Limited is authorised and regulated by the FCA for credit broking and insurance distribution activities. Their firm reference number is published in their documentation, and this regulation means they must follow FCA rules when arranging finance and related products.

10. Who pays the commission when I take finance via Lookers?

When you take out finance through Lookers, any commission is typically paid by the lender, not directly by you as a separate fee. However, the cost of that commission is usually reflected within the overall interest you pay on your credit agreement, and Lookers states that it can disclose the amount of commission on request before you apply.

11. How does Lookers handle complaints about finance commission?

Lookers directs customers with concerns about historic motor finance commission to their dedicated complaints and information pages. These pages explain how to complain, how the Financial Conduct Authority's review affects motorists and provide links to lender contact details for commission-related enquiries.

12. Is Lookers a lender or a credit broker?

Lookers acts mainly as a credit broker, meaning it introduces customers to a panel of finance companies rather than lending its own money. The final finance agreement is between you and the lender, while Lookers earns commission for arranging the finance in line with FCA rules.

13. How can I find my nearest Lookers dealership or service centre?

You can use the dealer or location finder on the Lookers website to search by postcode or region. The results list nearby showrooms and service sites, along with contact details and links to view stock, book test drives or arrange servicing online.

14. Does Lookers offer electric and hybrid solutions?

Yes. Lookers promotes electric and hybrid vehicles across several of its franchises and offers advice on choosing an EV or hybrid, charging options and running costs. Their service centres are increasingly equipped to maintain electrified vehicles using appropriate tools and trained technicians.

15. What fleet and business services are available from Lookers?

Lookers provides fleet and business solutions, including company car schemes, commercial vehicle supply and contract hire for businesses of different sizes. Dedicated business specialists can help tailor packages that balance vehicle choice, total cost of ownership and operational needs.

16. How does Lookers describe its company values and culture?

In its corporate information, Lookers highlights themes such as innovation, customer focus and integrity, summed up by the strapline “Driving Trust. Delivering Excellence.” Employee reviews show that experiences vary by site, but the group’s stated goal is to build long-term trust with customers and staff.

17. What should I check before buying a used vehicle from Lookers?

Lookers prepares used vehicles and often provides history, mileage and condition information, but it is still wise to review the service history, mileage, MOT record and available warranty options. You can also ask for a test drive and clarification on any cosmetic or mechanical points before agreeing to buy.

18. Can I sell my car to Lookers without buying another one?

Yes. Lookers provides online valuation and ‘click and sell’ style services for customers who simply want to sell their car. You enter your vehicle details, receive an indicative valuation and then finalise the sale at a participating Lookers location, subject to inspection and paperwork checks.

19. How can I complain if I am unhappy with a Lookers service or product?

If you are dissatisfied, you can contact the local dealership or use the complaints information on the Lookers website. They outline how to raise concerns, expected response times and routes for escalation, including external bodies where appropriate for finance-related matters.

20. Does Lookers operate outside the UK?

Lookers is primarily a UK-based dealership group, but it also has operations in the Republic of Ireland through some of its franchises. Its network covers many major towns and cities, giving customers in different regions access to sales and aftersales facilities.
